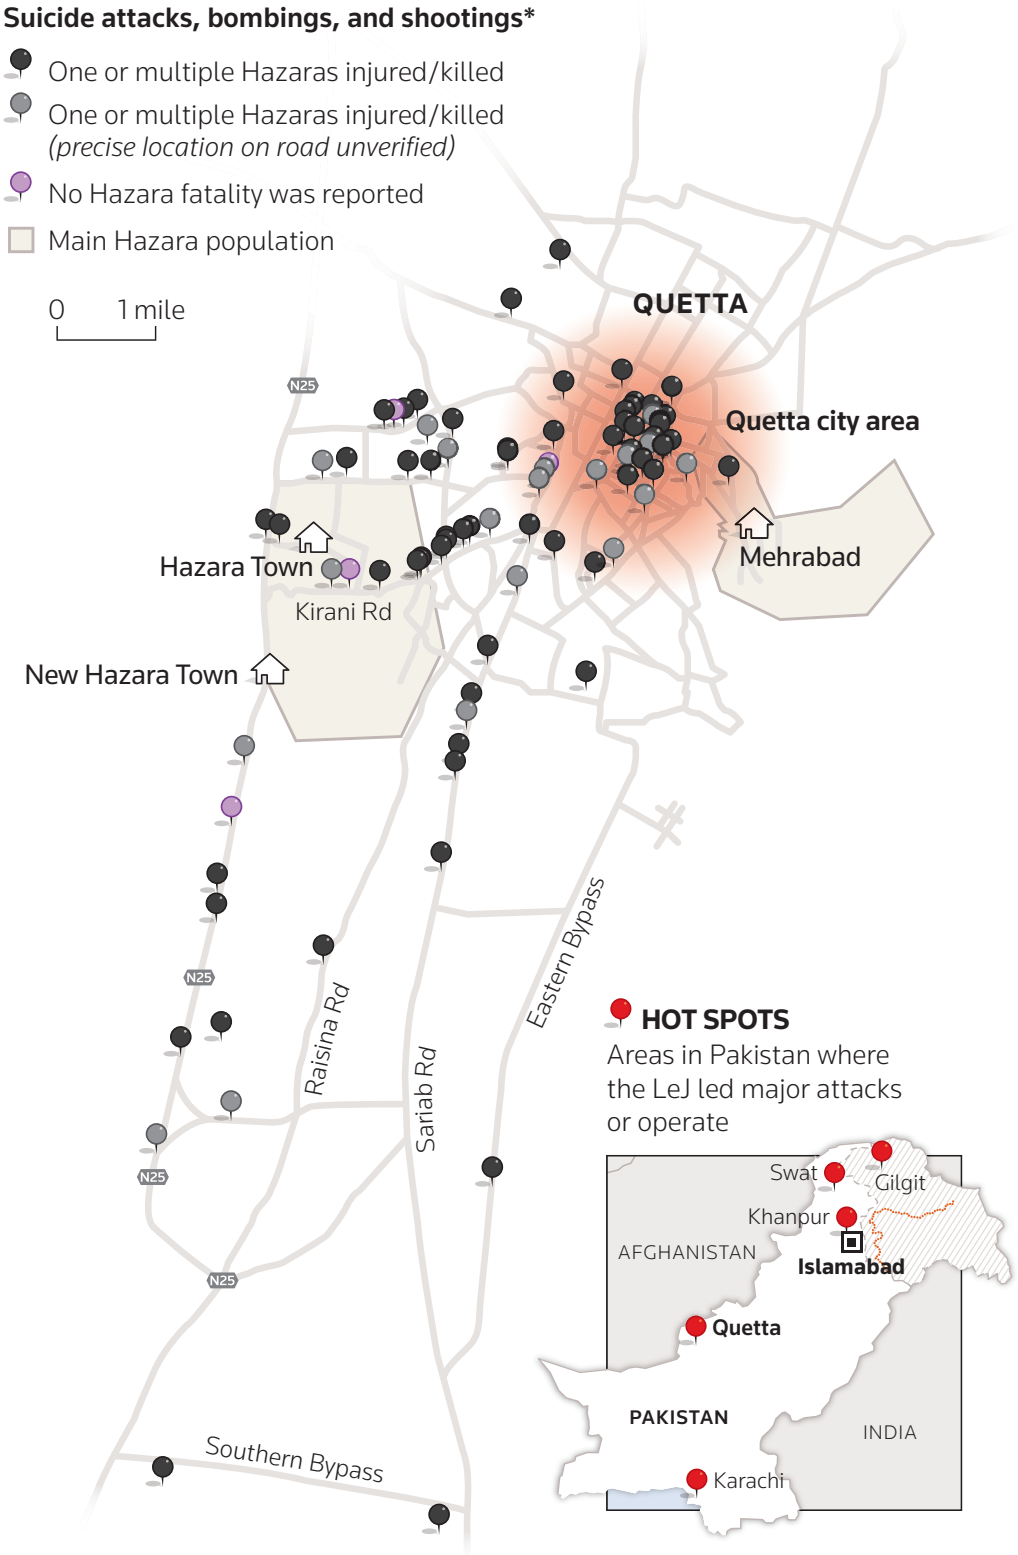
Terror town

Members of the Lashkar-e-Jhangvi (LeJ) militant group are intensifying their violence against Hazara Shi'ites living in the south-western Pakistani city of Quetta. More than two dozen attacks have occured in the Quetta city area alone, killing hundreds.



NOTE: *From 1999 to Oct 16, 2012 as compiled by HOPE.

Sources: Hazara Organization for Progress and Equality (HOPE), Reuters research.